If you're looking for a gracious home with lots of land in a natural setting that's still close to the city, then there's one neighbourhood that you just have to see so mark it on your calendar right this moment.

This weekend, perhaps the rarest, and most desirable lots in all of the GTA— grand 60-foot wide lots— will be briefly available at Lakeview Homes' Estates of Credit Ridge. Don't wait too long; others won't.

Set in the lush countryside, close to where Mississauga meets Brampton, at Creditview Road and Queen Street, Credit Ridge is part of a new master plan to develop a special corner of the Credit River Valley that will include ponds, parks, valley lands, and schools. Surrounded by natural woodlands, the community offers detached executive estate homes on 40-foot, 50-foot, and new 60-foot lots from the mid $400's to over $600,000.

The Credit Valley is a region so precious it has been preserved for decades while the neighbouring farmlands have given way to neighbourhoods. Now this small parcel is destined to be home to a fortunate few. Here you can live in the Valley with all the necessities of the city close by, while surrounded by nature. Lakeview's location within Credit Ridge is the most desirable, closest to Queen Street, yet away from the hustle and bustle. Many lots back onto ponds, open space and parks. Some are wide, deep pie lots set in quiet cul-de-sacs.

Open your door and the loudest sound you will hear will be the whistle of the wind through the treetops. You are walking distance away from endless winding trails, valley lands and vistas for hours of quiet enjoyment. And for those inevitable interruptions that come with everyday life, all the amenities you need are right next door. If you, or your children are interested in higher learning, The Sheridan Institute
